Amon Gus is lonely because he doesn't trust his peers and would rather find events and groups online, but he doesn't know how.

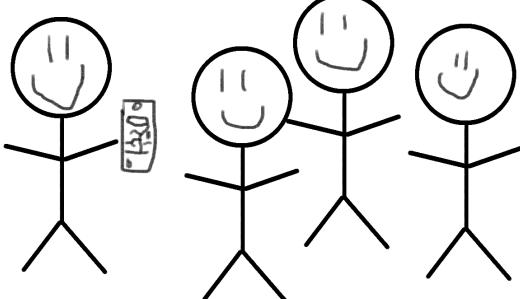

Amon Gus finds people talking about a new event app. He decides to check it out.

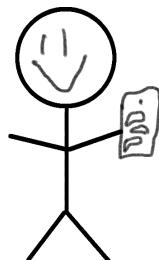

Amon Gus creates an account so he can ask event organizers questions to help him be a bit less suspicious.

Amon Gus finds an event he is interested in and submits a question. It is answered and he feels a lot more comfortable.

He uses the address given to navigate to the event. He ends up having a good time.

Amon Gus is no longer lonely and has found friends to talk to.
